

A photograph of an anti-militarist gathering in Brighton, UK, held from May 2nd to 3rd, 2008. The scene is a busy street filled with a large crowd of people. In the foreground, a woman holds a large white sign with the message "STOP WAR. THINK PEACE." written in black, hand-drawn letters. The crowd is diverse, with many people wearing red clothing, some holding red balloons, and others holding up mobile phones to take pictures. In the middle ground, a line of police officers in blue uniforms and helmets is visible, some wearing high-visibility green vests. Behind the police, there are several white vans and other vehicles, some with equipment on their roofs. The background shows green trees and a clear sky, suggesting a pleasant day. The overall atmosphere is one of a large-scale public demonstration.
